Piercing the corporate veil or lifting the corporate veil is a legal decision to treat the rights or duties of a corporation as the rights or liabilities of its shareholders. Usually a corporation is treated as a separate legal person, which is solely responsible for the debts it incurs and the sole beneficiary of the credit it is owed. Common law countries usually uphold this principle of ...

Most tenants are expected to pay some share of the entire property's operating expenses (or CAM costs). Landlords like to define the scope of those expenses broadly, sometimes including the proverbial "kitchen sink." In response, tenants proffer extensive lists of items to be excluded from those operating expenses. Here is such a list.
