Signals in many biological processes can be amplified by recruiting multiple copies of regulatory proteins to a site of action. Harnessing this principle, we have developed a protein scaffold, a repeating peptide array termed SunTag, which can recruit multiple copies of an antibody-fusion protein.

The organisation of the fly genome into domains was thus evident at an early time, and furthermore, Edstrom and Daneholt confirmed biochemically the high Mr of RNA synthesised in gene-specific puffs. The chromatin loops of lampbrush chromosomes in avian and amphibian oocytes also showed similarly-sized genomic domains.

Summary of Studies on MBIs Using Gene Expression Analysis. In Table 1, we summarize the biological and psychological outcomes for each study, including which genes were upregulated or downregulated, as well as the type of MBI, control group, and gene expression technology used. Below, we briefly describe the rationale and results for each study; for further details, please see Table 1.

A not always very easy to read, but practical copy & paste format has been chosen throughout this manual. In this format all commands are represented in code boxes, where the comments are given in blue color. To save space, often several commands are concatenated on one line and separated with a semicolon ';
